The first forenoon was finished with the routine work of going through the list of cases and entering the various disposals to be made of them.

Whitman of Norway, clerk of courts for Oxford county, called to order and summoned Col. Eugene F. Smith of Norway, ex-county attorney, to the chair. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. William E. Brooks, pastor of South Paris Congregational church. The meeting lasted an hour and a half and was lively throughout. The general sentiment of the public was expressed as commending temperance in the community and its individuals. The need of bringing pressure to bear on the officers charged with enforcement was generally admitted, but the real hope is in training the rising generation. The meeting was one of short, vigorous, pointed speeches made by the chairman, the clerk of courts, Rev. Thomas J. Ramsdell of South Paris Baptist church, Hon. George D. Bisbee of Rumford Falls, Charles P. Barnes esq. of Norway, J. Hastings Bean of South Paris, Charles S. Akers of Norway, Rev. Abel W. Pottle of South Paris M. E. church, Hon. James S. Now, what are the first symptoms that warn you of the approach of KIDNEY OR BLADDER TROUBLE? Well, a few of them are, dull feeling in head, bad taste, coated tongue, pain in back and general depression. These are the beginning, and are easily stopped by

A Vale of Tears.

They say this world is a vale of tears,
Although so pleasant it appears,
That all on earth
Is little worth
And cannot make us blest—
That pleasures fly,
Friends droop and die,
And sickness breaks the rest.
So let them say, for well I know
From God the sweetest blessings flow,
And He would be
A friend to me
Should all beside depart—
In sickness sooth
My pillow smooth,
And cheer my fainting heart.
While through this world my footseps stray
The blessed God shall be my stay,
My manna sweet,
My shade from heat,
My light in deepest gloom;
His love shall flow
Where'er I go,
Until I reach the tomb.

Written for the Advertiser.

Our Road.

The dull road reaches out before
Beyond our sight, dear friend,
For particles of dust arise,
They fill and blind our weary eyes—
We may not see the end.
Each solitary path winds on
Just wide enough for one.
We travel onward day by day,
No guide-book pictures us the way
That other souls have gone.
How long or short the road may be
We have no right to ask;
We may not know its weary length
Lest it should prove beyond the strength
Allotted for our task.
But day by day it onward winds
Thro' unfamiliar scenes,
Thro' pleasant fields or forests drear,
O'er rugged hills or waters clear,
And new experience gleams.
Alas, it ill-becometh us
To question as we go,
To be beset by doubts and fears,
To falter on the verge of tears
Because we may not know
The mystery the future hides,
And where our pathway leads.
Oh, foolish voyager, "peace, be still"—
At each emergency you will Find strength for all your needs.

Andover Cattle Show.

Wednesday of last week, the opening day of the fair, came in with leaden sky that bespoke rain. This of course deterred many from attending. By ten o'clock the sun burst through the clouds and the weather was kindly for the most of the day though the attendance was hardly up to the usual first day.

Some changes have been made in the officers of the society, the past year. O. B. Poor is president in place of the genial George O. Huse who has had that office for the past sixteen years. John F. Talbot is secretary having served in that capacity since the organization of the Oxford North Agricultural Society, seventeen years ago. That he is the right man for the place no one can dispute.

The particular attractions for the day were base ball, pulling of cattle, two races, the meeting with old friends and a dance in the Town Hall in the evening.

The society was disappointed at the last moment by not having the West Paris nine here. It was unavoidable. A game between the Rumford Falls nine and picked nine here was substituted and resulted in a score of 5 to 2 in favor of the Rumfords.

G. W. & F. F. Abbott made a good display of thoroughbred Durhams. There were Jersey cows and calves from the farm of John Caldwell. Albert Berry showed a good flock of sheep and lambs and some Jersey stock. A sow with nine pigs and fat hog was shown by D. W. Barnes.

The display in exhibition hall was good. Much fruit was shown and oceans of ladies' finery.

In the apple display, F. Eli Cutting showed forty-five varieties of apples. Mr. Cutting gives much time to orcharding. From the comparatively young orchard of H. W. Suter, the Boston lawyer who has a summer home in Andover, are shown thirty-four varieties. Mrs. C. P. Kimball had four coops of good poultry on exhibition. Major Stephen Cabot sent a particularly good display of farm vegetables, including twenty-seven different varieties, and showing eleven pumpkins from one seed.

Russell H. Eaton of Bowdoin made a large exhibit of potatoes, having a dozen or more varieties, including the Johnson Dewey, Johnson No. 1 and No. 2, Pingree, White Albion, Washington, McKinley and other varieties. He showed specimens of grafted potatoes in which the tuber shows two and sometimes three colors.

The most noticeable change in Andover is the loss of the Andover House. The piles of brick and mortar and rubbish markes the spot where once the house was. We understand A. W. Thomas is to sell the lot. It is the best location in the village and ought to bring a good price.

French's Hotel did a good business during the fair. The accommodations were overtaxed and many had to get rooms outside. Mr. French reports the hotel business not quite up to what it was, last season, notwithstanding there is only one house there now.

The Ellis River Band furnished enlivening music for the two days. They wore nice looking uniforms and make a nice looking appearance and good music.

David Glines of Rumford was marshal and rode a horse.

Tom French entertained the people in the grand stand with an exhibition of his automobile. He made a very quick half mile. He took many of his friends to ride with him and it is surprising to see how easily he controls his horseless carriage. He informs us that he has run this automobile over two thousand miles. He has several valuable patents on the mechanism of it.

There were ninety couples in the grand march at Wednesday evening's dance. Music was furnished by the Rumford Falls Orchestra. The tickets for dance and supper were $1.75 per couple.

L. U. Bartlett and Dana Hall were here with Mr. Bartlett's strong oxen. They measured 7 ft. 4 in., and 7 ft. 3 in. and pulled a load on drag of 5,945, 30 ft. in five minutes and secured first premium. George Howe of Rumford with oxen 6 ft. 9 in. pulled the same load 5 ft. 9 in. Mr. Howe in the light class pulling got first prize. Committee—J. H. Jewett, Virgil Kimball and Matt Thurston.

The following is the summary of Wednesday afternoon's races:

Bedell. Richard Morton of Andover Surplus had a fine lot of 12-rowed corn. Pop corn was exhibited by Llewellyn Hall, William W. Cutting, Bert Hussey of Roxbury and Walter Bailey. Arthur Akers and Dr. Abbott of Rumford showed sweet corn. Good, clean measures of potatoes were shown by H. W. Poor, John Caldwell and Stephen Cabot, who had five varieties here. Messrs. Caldwell, Cabot and James Noyes had pumpkins here yellower than October sunshine. In the class which includes twelve varieties of farm crops and vegetables the exhibits were by Messrs. Caldwell, Sylvanus Poor and Elliott. Messrs. Cabot and Akers showed squash. Walter Bailey had a measure of beans.

Frank Duran and N. E. Small had displays of onions fine enough to draw tears from the eyes of the hardest hearted.

Llewellyn Hall showed a half dozen varieties of apples; I. Bragg, four varieties; G. W. and S. F. Abbott, sixteen different plates of apples; twenty-five varieties were exhibited by Sylvanus Poor. William W. Perkins showed apples and cranberries. Cranberries were also shown by Wm. W. Cutting, W. W. Perkins and Arthur Akers, who had three varieties. Richard Morton of Andover Surplus showed samples of the Bethel apples. S. Eli Cutting of Andover had the largest collection of apples here, his display including 45 varieties. H. W. Suter came next with thirty-four varieties on his plates. Five plates were also shown in another lot by H. W. Poor. Lincoln Dresser showed eight varieties and C. M. Newton five varieties of apples.

There were three pens of Plymouth Rock fowls shown by Walter Bailey and Arthur Akers of Andover. Chicks of this breed were shown by John Caldwell, Mrs. Charles P. Kimball, Arthur Roberts, John Hewey, Call Newton and M. H. Elliott, all of Andover. Mrs. Kimball also had in the poultry house a pair of Leghorn fowl and chicks of the Rhode Island Red variety. Arthur Stevens of Andover had pens of Rhode Island Red chicks and Brown Leghorn chicks and fowl. M. H. Elliott showed a pair of geese. Mrs. C. P. Kimball and M. H. Elliott made entries in hopes of winning the Pratt special premium.

Children's Fertilizer.

That's a good name for Scott's Emulsion. Children are like young plants. Some will grow in ordinary soil. Others need fertilizers.

The nature of some children prevents them from thriving on ordinary food Such children grow right if treated right.

All they need is a little fertilizer—a little extra richness. Scott's Emulsion is the right treatment.

Fertilizers make things grow. That's just what Scott's Emulsion does. It makes children grow in flesh, grow in strength, grow rich blood, grow in mind, grow happy. That's what we make it for.

Maine's Fall Sport.

The Hunting Season Drawing Nigh.--Indirations of a Big Season.--Deer, Moose and Game of all Kinds Abundant in the Maine Woods.--Many Bear Have Been Seen this Summer and a Goodly Number of Birds Are Reported.

Maine will again this fall be a pleasure ground for thousands of sportsmen from Massachusetts, New York and eve the far western States, and that there will be plenty of room for them and plenty of game goes without saying. Few people who have not visited Main realize its immense proportions. The northern portion of the State is one va wilderness, greater in area that Vermon and New Hampshire combined, and th is the natural home for the deer and moose. This big tract is owned by lumbermen, who, in return for the protection afforded by the State laws, subm to the enforcement of game laws by th state, so that the whole area is one larg preserve to which sportsmen from out the State are welcome as long as th conform to the laws regulating the hun Washington county has also develope into a great hunting region.

The Maine deer is a hardy animal an one which increases rapidly from nat ral causes. It has been said on good a thority that the deer in Maine propaga more rapidly than they could possib be killed by hunters using legitima methods. The Maine deer is much lar er than the species to be found in th southern States, the bucks oftentim weighing 275 pounds, and in some cas fifty pounds more than that.

The open season for deer in Maine w begin, October 1—that is, deer after th time can be killed to the number of tw to each man and taken away. The op season for moose will not begin an October 15, and then only one moose each hunter is permitted.

The first two weeks of October are th best for the early hunters, who do n desire moose. At that time still hun ing can be carried on much better tha later, and the deer are still frequenti the water on warm days. The weath is usually delightful, for Indian summ is due at that time. Venison, howeve does not keep as well, and it is apt spoil before the hunter can get it out.

Late in October, often as early as th 20th, snows are due in northern Main and then comes the prime condition f still hunting deer and moose. A hea rain also makes good hunting, helpi the hunter to get through the woo noiselessly; but snow both deadens th noise and shows the hunter the tracks the game. The last week in October a the first week in November, or the fi two weeks in November, are genera counted the finest for big game huntin

Deer may be killed in close proximi to any well situated sporting camp Maine, and the hunter may get the le quota and eat and sleep in a comfortab cabin, but no such good luck awaits th moose hunter. To secure a good moo head a certain amount of hardship mu be undergone, and many a hunter go out of the woods without a moose si ply because he is not willing to under that hardship. No one who has nev sighted a rifle at a mammoth bull moo can understand the thrill that the exp riences causes. It makes one forget hardship, all disappointment, and ev after that same sportsman is wi ling to go anywhere and do anything f the sake of experiencing the sensati again."

The personal outfit of the sportsma essential, both comfort and success bei dependent upon it. The clothing shou consist of a second-hand winter suit wool, medium weight wool underwea heavy winter socks, and a double-brea ed, double-backed, lined, blue flan shirt. Black is a good color to wear the woods. One is not apt to be tak for a deer in it, and it is less consp uous than scarlet. A brown suit, or resembling deer, should never be wo For footwear in the snow, nothing is b ter than lumbermen's rubbers and boots, or the long wool stockings. T hat should be of stout, broad rim felt. A sweater is always indispensa In late hunting, mittens and a fur will be necessary, but the sportsm should always avoid being too warm dressed.

The proper rifle is the subject of mu discussion. The small bore is still m in use, but many sportsmen insist t the large bore, with a soft nose bullet the "killing" weapon. Guides and t pers use the small bores very little. 38-55 is an extremely popular and eff ive arm, and the 45 70 has many frie It is better to carry the additional weig and have a gun that does the work wh the time comes than to have a light a and empty a whole magazine into a d or moose, only to see the prize tro into the forest, perhaps to die at so distant and undiscovered point.—[Ma Central.

MEXICO.

A Bad Fall.

Joseph Haines had the misfortune to fall eleven feet over in the mill where he was at work, badly straining one leg.

Several cases of scarlet fever are reported about here.

Mr. and Mrs. Hezekiah Holt have gone to Boston for a two weeks visit.

Everett Hayes and wife, who have been away on their vacation have returned home.

Geo. Dupill has the foundation in for a house which he will build on the lot next to Alonzo Richards'.

H. T. Richards is putting in the foundation for a house on land which he has purchased of Mrs. Etta Richards.

Mr. McLeod has moved into his new house. Archie Packard has moved into the house vacated by Will Day, who has moved to Portland.

Herbert LeBarron, who sold his farm, a few weeks ago, to Edwin Holland, has bought Jacob Lovejoy's stand in Ridlonville and is putting in the foundation for a stable.

Having Eyes See Not, Having Ears Hear Not.

The general tendency of all trades and all departments of business interests in these latter days is in the line of combination. The more departments which can be linked together for mutual plunder of the unprotected the worse it is for the latter. The man of small means may own a shelter and calls in the carpenter. Then in turn or by order of the owner, the plumber comes along, then the board of health, and between the trio an elaborate job is ordered, perhaps to the extent of throwing the proprietor out of a home.

Again an architect is called to design and construct a dwelling for the man of means. He draws his plans and specifications, and he being in league with the dealer in building supplies causes the contractor to patronize his favorite supply firm, who have a way of charging enormous profits, to be divided with the architect to repay him for turning his victim over to the tender mercies of the dealers in builders' supplies. To illustrate—one contractor known to the writer was compelled to pay seventy-five cents per gallon for material which he claimed never cost over ten cents.

Some of us can remember the old doctor and his saddle-bag which contained all the drugs required in his practice.

A different state of things has long since existed. He diagnosis the case, writes out a prescription, which is taken to his favorite druggist, who charges the patient sufficient to divide profits with the physician. Hence you pay your doctor for his call, then again to the druggist. Then the druggist "to protect the dear people" had a law passed to confine the business within their own precinct, and yet the chairman of their board of examiners very soon, according to report, killed a person with a mistaken prescription. That passed all right, but if the unlicensed had made the mistake, what then? Manslaughter? The people swallow all these things as though they all emanated from power divine.

Again, how and by whom are duties imposed? By governmental law, of course. This reminds us of some especial cases. Before proceeding I wish to refer to an article lately published by a man interested in the welfare of the poor. In view of the high price of potatoes and cabbages he seemed to be looking for substitutes for these that the laborer might survive a little longer. Rice was one of the substitutes, I do not recall the others, but no matter.

What has enhanced the price of cabbage? Was it in the interest of the poor tiller of the soil? Yes and no. He never could have brought that to pass. According to the best information I have, (could give names, but I forbear), a wealthy man, able to own land in the South and carry on gardening on a large scale, to put a stop to the importation of cabbages from Germany, as they were obtained very low there, taken as ballast after the discharge of the vessel's cargo, brought to New York and sold at a very low figure. The long and short of it was he was able to obtain a tariff, "not for revenue only," but enough that he might grow rich out of the mouths of the poor.

Another article in every household throughout the land is the match. The writer sold matches before the war for from 20 to 25 cents. They were manufactured in shops on the little streams that course among our hills. By the connivance of a rich man a revenue was placed upon them of $1.44 per gross, one cent per bunch. This amounted to a prohibition to the poor man. Within a few years the same thing has been accomplished as was done with the cabbage.

Ask your grocer for a quarter gross of matches and compare it with the price of 25 cents for the whole gross, as formerly.

These things which we are wont to look upon as emanating from our lawmakers for the benefit of the masses are all done in a corner and by a combination of a few interests without regard of whom it hurts.

Oh, they will say what a grand thing a trust is to bring down the expense of production when these very commodities are advancing before their eyes.

Everybody's liable to itching piles. Rich and poor, old and young—terrible the torture they suffer. Only one sure cure. Doan's Ointment. Absolutely safe; can't fail. 40-43.

Pensions and Pensioners.

In round numbers the population of the United States, as found by the census made last year, was 76,000,000. According to the advance copy of the annual report of the commissioner of pensions, the pension list has almost reached a round million.

The expense of meeting the requirements of the general and special legislation for pensions was, in the year ending June 30, about $138,500,000, exclusive of the outlay for administration and for medical examinations.

The millions paid to pensioners in 1900-1901, if paid per capita, would make it necessary for each man, woman and child to hand over to the collector of taxes something like $1.50 each year.

All the States contribute to this great pension fund and all recover part of what they contribute. But the share obtained by some states is very much larger than that of others. While forty-five States and six Territories contribute of their taxes to swell the treasury and to pay nearly 1,000,000 pensions, pretty nearly 709,000 of the 1,000,000 pensioners live in the States of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvani and Wisconsin. The other 300,000 pensioners are distributed in the remaining States and Territories. Not a little money on pension account goes into the States that seceeded in 1861, but the pensioners there are either negroes who served in the army or immigrants from northern States.

It is generally believed that with a system in operation that treated everybody fairly, the average pension in each state would be very nearly the average rate of all pensions paid. Last year—1899-1900—the average value of the pension was stated as $132.39. Approximately, from the advance announcements made in July, the average pension for the year 1900-1901 was $138. If there were quite a million pensioners the average would be fully $138, as the amount expended in payment of pensioners slightly less than $1,000,000.

Preparing Oysters.

Oysters are again in season, and are hailed with delight by housekeepers as a welcome addition to the weekly menu. One of the advantages of the oyster, as of most shellfish, is the great variety of forms in which it may be served. However it is to be cooked, one thing should be borne in mind—that like the egg, the oyster is hardened and rendered indigestible by too high temperature. Persons who regard this fact in stewing overlook it too frequently in devilling, escalloping, frying, etc., and the result is a leathery substance with ruined flavor. Care should be taken in preparing the oyster for cooking to remove all bits of shell from the oyster, as well as from the liquor. The best way to insure this is to take each oyster in the fingers from its liquor, rinse it in fresh cold water and run the thumb and finger over it, to be sure that no foreign substance remains. Drop the oysters into just enough fresh water to cover them and drain the liquor from which they are taken through a fine sieve. If the oysters are to be stewed, put this liquor over the fire, and let it come to a boil. Skim it, put in the oysters and let it simmer, not boil, until the edges begin to curl and the oysters to plump. Meanwhile have ready a pint of milk to one quart of oysters. As soon as the oysters plump strain them from the liquor and put them where they will keep hot, but not cook. Cream together a tablespoonful of flour, and add to the milk with the liquor of the oysters. Cook and stir until slightly thickened. Season to taste with salt and pepper, turn in the oysters and serve at once. For oyster soup, some people add a half-cupful of cracker crumbs.

Individual oyster souffles may be baked in the oyster shells of any kind or in paper cases. Cut into small pieces nine large oysters. Make a cream sauce of 1½ tablespoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of butter, one tablespoonful of flour and three-fourths of a cupful of milk. As soon as it thickens add a half-teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne pepper, a half-cupful of bread crumbs and the oysters. Draw back from the fire and add the well-beaten yolks of two eggs, stirring them constantly. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the two eggs and fill the mixture into the well-buttered shells or cases. Cover the tops with buttered bread crumbs, place them on a baking pan and bake in a moderate oven for about fifteen minutes. Serve as soon as they are removed from the oven or they will fall.

In frying oysters cover them thoroughly with bread crumbs, rolling them first in the crumbs, then in beaten egg mixed with milk, and then again in the crumbs. Let them stand in a cool place an hour before frying. Deep oil is better for frying them than lard or butter. It should be at the boiling point when they are put in. A good test is a small piece of bread. If it browns quickly the fat is at the right heat. Only five or six oysters should be dropped in the fat at one time, otherwise the fat will be cooled, and they will be grease soaked. They should be served at once, not kept hot in a warming oven for a delinquent family.

Fried oysters dipped in mayonnaise dressing, instead of the egg, and rolled in bread crumbs, are delicious. For this purpose it is best to parboil them for a minute or two and drain them before rolling them first in the crumbs. By this means some of the water of the oyster is removed, and they spatter the fat less while frying.

Another way to marinate the drained oysters in melted butter, lemon juice and pepper sauce. Have the liquid warm, not hot, and turn the oysters occasionally, leaving them in the bath for fifteen or twenty minutes. Then remove the oysters one by one, roll them in bread crumbs, egg and crumbs and fry as usual.

Escalloped oysters may be baked in individual shells or in a large baking pan. Cover the bottom of the dish with oysters; strew over them a layer of cracker crumbs; add a seasoning of salt and pepper, and continue in this way until all are used. The last layer should be of well buttered crumbs. Turn into the dish a half cupful of milk and the same of the oyster liquer. Bake until nicely browned, and serve hot in the dish in which they are baked. Worcestershire sauce or lemon juice may be sprinkled over the various layers if either is wanted. Some people use mace for flavoring.

Oyster rolls are another excellent dish for the luncheon. For this purpose, a Parker House roll dough is best. This should be baked in round biscuit shapes. When they are cold, parboil a cupful of oysters. Strain, cut them into small pieces and mix with half as many canned mushrooms. Mix the mushrooms and oyster liquor and add enough cream to make two cupfuls in all. Make a sauce of the liquid, with three tablespoonfuls of flour and one of butter, seasoning it with a dash of cayenne, lemon juice and salt. Add the oysters, let them simmer for two or three minutes and fill them into the rolls, from which the soft inside has been removed, using a slice taken from the top of the roll for the cover.

FRYEBURG CENTER.

Mary Gordon Fife.

Died at Fryeburg Center, Sept. 16, Mrs. Mary Gordon Fife, aged 82 years and 11 months.

Mrs. Fife was the daughter of Joseph and Mary Gordon of South Chatham, N. H. At the age of 17 she married William Wiley, formerly of Mason, and went to Sweden to live, where her husband cleared a farm and built a house. Mr. Wiley died of Bright's disease at the age of 49, leaving his wife with a family of nine children to bring up. Being a woman of great industry and force of character she was enabled to keep the family together for several years with the help of her two eldest sons, Seth and John L. After a few years the family moved to Boston where several of her children were settled.

Coming back later to Chatham she married William Fife, living happily in the family with her daughter and husband, Seth Webb and wife. After her second husband's death she lived for a while with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Chandler, then went with her youngest daughter, Mrs. Dexter Wiley, where she was kindly cared for during a long and painful sickness.

Of the ten children born to her, seven are now living—John L. in Colorado, Ripley F. in Marlboro, N. H., Mrs. Horace Chandler, Chatham, N. H., Mrs. Eliza York and Mrs. Abby Grant, Boston, and Mrs. Charles Chandler and Mrs. Dexter Wiley, Fryeburg.

Your Nose

That is what you should breathe through—not your mouth.

But there may be times, when your catarrh is so bad you can't breathe through it.

Breathing through the mouth is always bad for the lungs, and it is especially so when their delicate tissues have been weakened by the scrofulous condition of the blood on which catarrh depends.

Alfred E. Yingse, Hoernerstown, Pa., suffered from catarrh for years. His head felt bad, there was a ringing in his ears, and he could not breathe through one of his nostrils nor clear his head.

After trying several catarrh specifics from which he derived no benefit, he was completely cured, according to his own statement, by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

This great medicine radically and permanently cures catarrh by cleansing the blood and building up the whole system.

South Harrison Fair.

Two better days than Tuesday, Wednesday for outdoor sport could have been had. The weather was perfect and consequently the attendance the twelfth annual exhibition of the Northern Cumberland County Agricultural Society was large. Tuesday two hundred admission tickets were sold and on the second day eight hundred or more.

This year's exhibition on the part of the society was an experiment entirely tempting to hold a two days fair without charge admission without giving a horse trot. It was purely an exhibition of cattle, farm crops, poultry, fruit, household goods with drawing of horses and oxen. Judging from those in attendance and from remarks heard it was a success—poor races are a disappointment and expensive and that is the kind had when only small purses are offered—and small purses only are offered by a society of this size. The result shows that a good number of people want an agricultural fair with a stage performance and a horse trot.

There were long rows of good herds of cows, steers, calves and oxen on exhibition. Angora goats, sheep, sow and pigs were in pens to competes for premiums.

Archie T. Heath of Gilead was on hand with his merry-go-round and furnished music and amusement for old and young. The Twitchell Bros. sold fruit, peanuts and light drinks. Dr. Lakin's riflery practice and ball throwing and dodging by Mr. Drew of Portland furnished excellent healing appliances and the balloon and screechers for the children, There was plenty for a day's sport to say nothing about the dance in the hall the evening of the fair.

It was a success.

George P. Carsley of Harrison has a herd of Jerseys and Hereford cattle and competes in the best breed of cows, the best cow of any breed. He also has a yearling heifer and bull.

James Thomes has matched one pair of year-old steers, 2-year-old steers, yearlings and calves—all matched. He has a nice yoke of draft oxen. Allison Thomes working and draft oxen. He has Dawes of Harrison, draft oxen and Ben Hall of Windham draft oxen.

B. F. Stanley, Bolster's Mills, has a pair of fat beef oxen.

George, Bradford and James Lakin Bros—have a good exhibit of cattle. Matched pair of calves and pair of year-olds, working oxen, heifer calves and two-year-old heifers.

J. H. Randall, Harrison, a herd of cows, a two and three-year-old heifer with bull.

Joseph Pitts, Harrison, a herd of pure blooded Durhams and competes for best cow of any breed, and has a nice yearling old heifer and two bulls.

Ernest L. Pike of Waterford has a fine show of stock. There are full blood Holsteins at the head of which is a fine bull—a whopper. He also has a fine Durham bull.

Howard Wight, Harrison, has a fine six months old buck, Rex, sired by Wight's prize-ed son of the great Arkell, 12[illegible] dam sheared 17½ pounds at the last clipping. There are six ewes with the buck.

James Thomes, Harrison, a fine lot of pigs with lively pigs. E. L. Pike, Waterford, has a year old boar. W. W. Hamlin, Harrison, has a nice looking sow with nine pigs.

C. Y. Francis, the Otisfield Grange fancier, has 12 coops of poultry and competes in all the classes in the premium list except geese. He also has an additional kind—Black Spanish. Bailey Bros., Harrison, have a coop of Pekin andottes and Charles Batchelder of Harrison, a coop each of White and Brown Leghorns.

The Angora goats that live on browse and twigs, from Sweden, are here and are owned by S. L. Plummer and have been to many of the fairs. This year their fleece looks nice and brings from 40 to 60 cents per pound. They are hardy and will live most anywhere. Both male and female have horns.

Sweepstakes pulling for horses 3000 pounds over and under—occupied Wednesday afternoon. There were seven pairs of horses to compete. Clark of Bolster's Mills had two pairs, Walter Hussey of Windham, a pair, Tanner of Westbrook, a pair, and Plummer of Sweden, Geo. C. Westbrook and A. E. Ward of Gilead each a pair.

The load is two pounds of wood and one pound of horse flesh but in this all could pull on 4800 pounds. Plummer's pair of horses, Austin Brigham, pulled the feet and 1 inch in five minutes team weighed 2,312½ pounds. Tanner's team weighed 2,355 pounds and the load 140 feet and 4¼ inches. Bailey's horses weighed 2,690 pounds carried the load 96 feet and 3 Pike's horses weighed 2,675 and 107 feet, 3½ inches. Ward's weighed 2,455 pounds and pulled feet, 4½ inches. At this point and of course cannot announce result as A. R. Clark's two teams pull but it rather looks as the Sweden team was to win.

The prizes in this class are $10.00, $8.00 and $6.00.

The result will be announced next week's ADVERTISER together with balance of the premium awards.

The committee on pulling were Larrabee of Windham, Edman Bolster son of Raymond and Charles Wight of Harrison.

The town team from Harrison had nice yokes of cattle in it. They are beauties and brought to mind the road breaking of years ago.

This is the third year that Mr. Larrabee of Windham has been here and during that time has given general satisfaction. Probably not pleased every one as that is impossible but no one questions his ness and honesty.

Mr. Larrabee is a dealer in provisions, also auctioneer, and at one time was an officer of the society of long name.

The officers of this society are congratulated on the success of this year's exhibition. They have demonstrated, for this year at least, that it can be held minus racing. When they have no scruples against racing but the experience of the past is that it isn't profitable.

The hall is up stairs over the store room and officers' rooms, large and well lighted. About the center long tables were filled with fancy articles, tables, grains, etc. The tables were placed lengthwise in the center were filled with the ladies' handiwork. It was a fine display and showed most excellent work. Doubtless we overlook something that was most interesting, but we do not blame us, but the big amount of articles there.

Howard Wight, Harrison, has a 5-months old buck, Rex, sired by imported son of the great Arkell, 1219. The dam sheared 11½ pounds at the last clipping. There are six ewes with the buck.

James Thomes, Harrison, a big sow with lively pigs. E. L. Pike, Waterford, a year old boar. W. W. Hamlin, Casco, a nice looking sow with nine sucking pigs.

C. Y. Francis, the Otisfield Gore hen fancier, has 12 coops of poultry. He competes in all the classes in the premium list except geese. He also has one additional kind—Black Spanish. Stickney Bros., Harrison, have a coop of Wyandottes and Charles Batchelder, Harrison, a coop each of White and Brown Leghorns.

The Angora goats that live on browse and twigs, from Sweden, are here. They are owned by S. L. Plummer and have been to many of the fairs, this season. Their fleece looks nice and brings from 40 to 60 cents per pound. They are hardy and will live most anywhere. Both male and female have horns.

Tanner's team weighed 2,355 pounds and drew the load 140 feet and 4¼ inches. Hussey's horses weighed 2,660 pounds and carried the load 96 feet and 2 inches. Pike's horses weighed 2,675 and pulled 107 feet, 3½ inches. Ward's team weighed 2,455 pounds and pulled 130 feet, 4½ inches. At this point we left and of course cannot announce the result as A. R. Clark's two teams were to pull but it rather looks as though the Sweden team was to win.

The prizes in this class are $16.00, $10.00, $8.00 and $6.00.

The result will be announced in next week's ADVERTISER together with the balance of the premium awards.

The committee on pulling was Samuel Larrabee of Windham, Edmund M. Mason of Raymond and Charles Whitney of Harrison.

The town team from Harrison had 12 nice yokes of cattle in it. They were beauties and brought to mind winter road breaking of years ago.

This is the third year that Sam Larrabee of Windham has been a judge here and during that time has given general satisfaction. Probably he has not pleased every one as that would be impossible but no one questions his fairness and honesty.

Mr. Larrabee is a dealer in meats and provisions, also auctioneer, and at one time was an officer of the society with a long name.

The officers of this society are to be congratulated on the success of this year's exhibition. They have demonstrated, for this year at least, that a fair can be held minus racing. We presume they have no scruples against horse racing but the experience of the past shows that it isn't profitable.

The hall is up stairs over the dining room and officers' rooms. It is large and well lighted. About the walls the long tables were filled with fruit, vegetables, grains, etc. The tables running lengthwise in the center were devoted to the ladies' handiwork. It was a good display and showed most creditable work. Doubtless we overlooked much that was most interesting, but you must not blame us, but the big amount of articles there.

S. H. Dawes of Grand View Farm, Harrison, had one of the largest individual displays of fruits, vegetables and seeds. There were about one hundred and fifty varieties, all labeled and classified. Fifteen varieties of apples, twenty-two of pears, thirteen of grapes, two of quince, six of tomatoes, six of onions, fourteen of potatoes, thirty-one of seeds, nine of squashes, fourteen of grain. Besides there were watermelons, beets, turnips, parsnips, carrots, kale, salsify, celery, gourds, and traces of sweet and pop corn. Some stalks of corn were nearly twelve feet in height. The vegetables were grown from Burpee's seeds.

J. Orin Ross of Harrison had a good exhibit of vegetables, thirty-two varieties. The six different kinds of potatoes were very smooth and of good size. He had twelve of beans. A. C. Buck of Harrison had twenty-two plates of apples and five of grapes; James L. Greene, Bolster's Mills, twenty-one of large fine looking apples; Albert F. Cummings, very large Baldwin and Colvert apples; George W. Knights, Harrison, four of apples, two of pears, one of quince, one of grapes. C. Y. Francis, Otisfield Gore, E. O. Breed and C. D. Batchelder of Harrison had cranberries.

The traces of yellow corn were well worth looking at. Many of the ears were a foot in length, and of a beautifully rich color. James Thomes of Harrison had some raised on plains land. We noticed other traces by Allison Thomes, D. S. Chaplin, Joseph Foster, A. C. Buck, Wm. H. Shackford, H. C. Packard, Harrison; Albert Chaplin, Naples; C. Y. Francis, Otisfield. James Thomes has a display of vegetables, also Mrs. Allison Thomes, D. S. Chaplin, Albert Cummings, Albert Chaplin, C. Y. Francis, Geo. W. Knights, Lakin Bros., A. C. Buck (we would mention the box of onions and the seven varieties of squashes in Mr. Buck's display); James L. Greene, twelve varieties of potatoes; Joseph Foster, traces of early sweet corn planted June 12th.

Mrs. Clarence Yeaton, Harrison, honey in the comb; Mrs. Royal Poland, Harrison, twelve jars of canned fruit and vegetables. The butter was shown by Abbie Gerry and Viola Gerry of Raymond, C. Y. Francis and Mrs. Q. M. Chute. It was all nice looking butter. A loaf of brown bread by Rena Buck, age 13.

Large oil paintings of Capt. Foster and his wife are shown by their grandson, Joseph Foster. Capt. Foster was the first man who made an opening in the forest at South Harrison, 100 years ago. A story is told of the captain's encounter with a bear at Naples. The bear treed him and then severely bit his heel. A warming pan 125 years old is shown by Albert Cummings, another, a brass one, by Mrs. Bertha Buck. A cider pitcher, that would hold pretty nearly a gallon, 105 years, and a shaving mug, as big as a bowl, 115 years, by John Tebbetts. Pewter plate, a foot and a half in diameter, Quincy M. Chute. Thomas' Almanac, 1841, Peter Jordan; Harrison. A flint-lock gun, with bayonet, a revolver and cartridge box, all carried in the Revolutionary War, A. L. Thomes, Harrison. J. W. Weston, Harrison, had a saddle bag for transportation on horseback, smoking tongs (these were used for taking coals from the fire, another piece for pressing the tobacco in the pipe and still another attachment for cutting up the tobacco), a sword carried in the Revolutionary War (this has since been put to the ignoble use of corn shelling), sword cane, bread toaster (to use before a fire-place), tin lantern, bellows, wooden bit stock, pewter platter. These articles have all probably seen more than one hundred years. Also a shot and shell from the battle of Gettysburg.

An embroidered scarf over 100 years old. Stand cloth woven and embroidered by Mrs. F. A. Chute in 1850.

The enormous sunflowers more than a foot across were raised by Albert F. Cummings.

G. A. Kenerson of Dixfield, the dealer in wire jewelry, was selling and making to order his goods. W. H. Bailey of Harrison, clothing manufacturer and dealer in woolens, was kept busy.

Some fine hand sewing was shown by Mary Cabell of Mechum River, Virginia. Mrs. George P. Carsley, Harrison, drawn rug with cloth applique, crocheted and patchwork quilt, circular shawl, toilet set, balloon. Darned lace centerpiece by Mrs. Albert F. Cummings, 90 years old. Knit rug, Mrs. James Thomes. Mrs. George H. Cummings, Harrison, pillow cases trimmed with knit lace, apron with Battenburg lace, another with knit lace, seven pieces of knit and crocheted lace, lambrequin with crocheted edge, Battenburg bureau scarf, embroidered centerpiece, crocheted shawl, fancy work-box, handkerchief and brush cases. Estella Folsom, Harrison, picture throw, handkerchief case, fancy mat. Mrs. E. H. Hicks, work basket, sofa pillow. Viola Gerry, silk and patchwork quilts, two sofa pillows. Mrs. S. B. Duran, Raymond, age 69 years, silk quilt and outline quilt made by pattern drawn by hand. Mrs. E. H. Hicks, afghan and lamp shade. Mrs. Joseph Foster, woolen quilt, circular shawl.

Knit and drawn rugs and silk quilt, Mrs. James Thomes. Braided rug, Howard Wight. Carriage robe, Mrs. John Tibbetts. Four lace handkerchiefs, Mrs. Geo. C. Pike, Westbrook. Pillow shams embroidered with pinks, Mrs. John Proctor. Mrs. Cora M. Denison, Battenburg centerpiece, pin cushion, sofa pillow cover in Bulgarian work, sofa pillow, table mats of corset lacings, carriage afghan. Mrs. Belle Cummings, hemstitched handkerchief with lace edge.

The hall articles were judged by Shakers from Sabbathday Lake,—William Dumont, Ada S. Cummings and Sarah L. Fletcher.

J. C. Maxfield, the veteran caterer, was in charge of the dining hall and as usual he gave a good dinner and plenty of food. He did a good business both days of the fair.

SPECTACLES.

We have a small assortment of spectacles for near sight, far sight and reading and the latest and best instrument this side of Portland for testing the eyes. The lenses in these spectacles are best quality, carefully ground by experienced opticians so as to give clear, distinct vision without a particle of eye-strain. Hundreds of people in this vicinity will testify that after paying $5 to $15 at other stores for glasses which were utterly worthless because they could not see with them, they came here and found glasses which were entirely satisfactory because they were better quality lenses.

Mrs. Angus McDonald of Cambridge, Mass., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Cole. She is accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. John D. Cole of Boston. Their husbands went down east to Louvie P. Swett's Camp Molunkus on Molunkus lake, and both were fortunate enough to shoot deer, last week. They come here for a week's visit before going home.

"Come in and see a fellow," was the hearty greeting received by the ADVERTISER reporter, one day last week, as he passed by the front door at Charles C. Burt's. It was Tuesday afternoon and Mr. Burt was doing the weekly ironing, just as he has done nearly every week since the death of his wife, seventeen years ago. He is a pensioner of the Civil War, and far from being a rugged man, but he manages to do his own housework. And there is no neater or more painstaking housekeeper in this village. Kitchen, pantry, parlor and chamber are all kept spotlessly clean. Mr. Burt also has the janitorship of the lower primary schoolhouse which is next door, and the town would be fortunate if it could have equally faithful caretakers for all its property.

Letter to Moses Stiles.

Norway, Me.

Dear Sir: It takes 3,000 gallons of paint for the two big hotels at Coney Island—Manhattan and Oriental. They are painted once in three years with Devoe lead and zinc.

Why so often? Three reasons: (1) sea air cuts paint; (2) sand in the wind cuts paint; (3) hotels, especially pleasure hotels, want freshness and color as much as protection. Once in three years is often enough and not too often to paint a hotel on a windy sand beach.

How long do you think lead and oil would last there? One year. Is there anything for you in this?

Yours truly,
29 F. W. DEVOE & Co.

P. S.—F. P. Stone sells our paint in your section.

Millinery Opening and Display.

The Norway milliners selected Friday and Saturday to show the ladies the new styles for fall and winter millinery. The trimmed millinery this year are works of art and it truly represents a lot of work. When completed the result is a combination of material and colors that please the eye and are most becoming to the wearer.

Mrs. E. G. Skillings, and her head milliner, May Grierson, and Ethelyn Cummings were kept busy showing hats and bonnets to the guests at the opening. There were seventy-five or more that they had especially prepared for the occasion and quantities of other, untrimmed goods that could be fixed to suit the various tastes of the patrons. No attempt had been made for a window display other than the millinery and millinery accessories. The hat on the figure in the window was a large black velvet, with six black plumes, silver spangled lace droping over rim and a large buckle at the back. It set up from the left side and front.

While Mrs. V. W. Hills did not call her display a millinery opening she had some seventy-five trimmed hats and bonnets, and she and her head trimmer, Mrs. F. E. Drake, and assistants, Grace K. Nevers and Geneva Winslow, had plenty to do to show the many ladies who called the new millinery, and to answer the numerous questions. The show window had several different styles of hats, showing some of this season's characteristics of trimming, plumes, fancy crowns, etc.

The new hats show more definite crowns and wider brims. The rolling brim predominates. This either rolls up from the face or rolls back with a droop over the face. The hats look large, but that is more in the way the trimming is draped on them than in the frame itself. Though the stylish hat may be made up of cords and tucks, shirrings and other ways innumerable in the end it must form an effect like it had been carelessly and loosely draped on.

Black and black and white, white, castor, brown, grays and turquoise blue are among the predominating colors, this season. Long Amazon plumes, feathers, quills, Rhinestone, cut steel, jet and other ornaments are much used, with lace, felt, chenille, feather pompoms, taffeta silk, velvet and satin. One hat had seventy-seven tucks in lengthwise clusters in velvet brim, and the Tam crown of navy blue taffeta tucked round from the center, two white breasts. Another black muslin de soir ruffied, edged with black velvet folds, Rhinestone ornament and large black plume. A black feather crown, tucked black velvet brim had autumn foliage and flowers and cut steel buckle. A white satin corded with black velvet, black and white plumes, white muslin de soir ruffied under the brim and corded with black velvet. A green Pan velvet, white ribbon sweep, Rhinestone buckle, bird of Paradise.

A fur toque had a petal rosette with a capuchon. A black velvet hat with the brim rolled high on both sides, the crown turquoise blue folds on black with long bows of the wide blue ribbon on the upper inside of each brim. A plain black velvet plaque crown nearly as large as the brim with a large buckle between the two in front and two large ribbon rosettes in the back.

A white tucked silk hat had a corded crown of the same, three long white plumes and Rhinestone ornament. Another was of garnet pan velvet with bright red and blue changeable ribbon in petal rosettes and streamers, two white breasts. A navy blue velvet had a handkerchief of gray felt edged with the velvet stitched on, draped over the crown and a navy blue polka dot breast. A castor and green hat. The green velvet crown had castor chenille made in leaf effect and the castor brim had green folds, two green irridescent breasts started from the center. A black felt hat with white cords about a half inch apart will jam together like an umbrella.

Some of the hats had ends tied with a knot in the back or the ribbon drawn through a round ornament. A few had streamers of broad ribbon. These instead of being worn both on one side as last summer are worn one on each side and may be crossed in the back. The cut edge on some of the velvet ends are left. This gives a sort of an unfinished look to the unsophisticated. A rosette on each side of the front gives a wide look. Oxidized buckles are much used. Wings and birds are also seen, indeed so rampant is the influence of the bird this season that few chapeaux may be found without a donation of some part of his plumage.

A taffeta silk and lace scarf may be draped on very prettily. White and cream lace is much worn. Bias folds of velvet lined with silk, chenille crowns, cords sewed closely together to form crowns, silk tucked to have a gathered effect between the tucks, chenille with satin pieces set in, Angora fur over felt covered with Maline, felt laced with chenille, leaves appliqued on velvet, French stitched felt, camel's hair felt, are only a few of the different ways and means that go to make up a hat.

The bonnets are larger, this season. As in the summer, the hats rather crowd them to the background, though both stores showed some very pretty ones. They had ties, black velvet ties, and the low broad effect seen in the hats.

The children were all remembered. Many of the hats had a ruffle brim. One in castor felt had a taffeta silk crown tucked lengthwise and gathered into the center of the crown, while the rest flared out to the brim, rosettes and black quills. The bonnets had little capes and a ruffle at the face, sometimes filled in with lace.

For common wear there was a large variety of ready trimmed hats. The fancy silks and stamped velvets trim them most appropriately.

MISS VIRGINIA GRANES

Graduate Nurse, and President of Nurses' Association of Watertown, N.Y.,

Tells How Much Doctors Use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Has Yet To Hear of Its Failure To Cure.

It is not infrequent that information comes to our attention proving that the medical profession in general prescribe large quantities of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in their private practise.

It is a fact beyond dispute that nowhere is to be found a remedy so universally successful in curing female ills, and the broad-minded physician of to-day is quick to recognize his duty to his patient, and does not hesitate to prescribe the best medicine he can find,—the medicine that is surest and quickest to bring relief to his patient; for this very reason thousands of the very best physicians are prescribing in their treatment of female ills Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, while not in the original bottles perhaps, but in plain prescription bottles with their own or druggists' name.

It is our pleasure and our privilege to publish a letter from a graduate nurse whose reputation and prominence in her profession lends much weight to her opinions, and whose testimony goes to prove our statements in regard to the high esteem in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is held by our leading physicians and trained nurses.

MISS VIRGINIA GRANES.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Twelve years continuous service at the sick beds in some of our prominent hospitals, as well as at private homes, has given me varied experiences with the diseases of women. I have nursed some most distressing cases of inflammation and ulceration of the ovaries and womb. I have known that doctors used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when everything else failed with their patients. I have advised my patients and friends to use it, and have yet to hear of its first failure to cure.

"Four years ago I had falling of the womb from straining in lifting a heavy patient, and knowing of the value of your Compound I began to use it at once, and in six weeks I was well once more, and have had no trouble since. I am most pleased to have had an opportunity to say a few words in praise of your Vegetable Compound, and shall take every occasion to recommend it."—MISS VIRGINIA GRANES, 444 So. Spring St., Los Angeles, Cal. [Present address.]

Be it, therefore, believed by all women who are ill that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine they should take. It has stood the test of time, and it has hundreds of thousands of cures to its credit. It should, therefore, be considered unwise to experiment further.

Mrs. Pinkham, whose address is Lynn, Mass., will answer cheerfully and without cost all letters addressed to her by sick women.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letter is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

A Fitting End.

College Students Endorse Chancellor Huntington's Idea for Czolgosz's Funeral

Five hundred students of Wesleyan University, the strongest Methodist college in the Northwest, have sent to Gov. Odell of New York, a set of resolutions of which the following is a part:

"Resolved, That we, students of Nebraska Wesleyan University, in chapel assembled, bereby indorse as most appropriate the disposal of the assassin's body suggested by Chancellor Huntington in his memorial address for the late President, namely:

"'I crave for the assassin of President McKinley one mark of distinction. He has earned it and would it might be awarded to him. His bones should never be allowed to mingle with American soil. When the death sentence shall be executed, as it should be, with the swift justice becoming such an unspeakable tragedy, we could wish the United States government would take the remains of the atrocious murderer 100 miles to sea and then, pinioned and manacled, with his revolver in his belt and a millstone chained about his neck, sink the corpse 1,000 fathoms to the bottom of the ocean, that thus the Anarchist might be warned that he shall not have as much as a grave in a civilized land.'"

Wm. H. Bridgham's bottling house, which was burned at Buckfield, Thursday morning about 2 o'clock, contained a new engine, a hydraulic cider press and a large amount of expensive bottling machinery. Also over 100 barrels of cider, most of which was bottled. The fire is supposed to have caught from the chimney. Loss about $3,000; insurance, $1,500.

Don't Torment Animals.
If you have a good cow try and keep her in a manner to make her good and gentle. Don't let the boys torment, chase, ride and barbecue your cows, and then blame the cow if you fail to get two pounds of butter per day from each cow. It is no benefit to a child to be allowed to torment animals or each other. In almost all cases of murder or other crimes, it will be found that the murderer in his early life displayed a brutal desire to torment and torture anything that was unable to defend itself, and that he was not corrected and restrained as he should have been in this respect by parents or guardians. A LASTING EFFECT.

This Evidence Should Prove Every Claim.

Relief from the pains and aches of a bad back is always welcome to every backache sufferer, but to cure a lame, weak or aching back is what's wanted. Cure it so it will stay cured. It can be done. Here's the strongest evidence to prove it.

Mr. H. P. Smith, blacksmith, of Elm street, Amesbury, Mass., says: "Mrs. Smith, from a cold which settled in her loins, suffered so severely from backache that she was unable to attend to the ordinary household duties, often finding it impossible to even make a bed for three months. I had read a great many statements of residents of Amesbury who positively declared that Doan's Kidney Pills had cured them of backache and other symptoms of kidney complaint. This led me to make some inquiries, and as a result Mrs. Smith took a thorough course of the treatment. It cured her. It is so long ago that I am confident the results are permanent. We never lose an opportunity of advising others who suffer from either weakened or over-excited kidneys to procure Doan's Kidney Pills, and we know of scores in and around Amesbury who have taken our advice and were not only surprised but gratified at the benefits received."

Type of a Swiss Hamlet.

Nature Has Given it a Fair Setting--The Grand Men and Women Who Have Lived Here--The Church and the Churchyard--Recent Events.

Rumford Point, Oct. 1, 1901.

If you wish to see a village, type of a Swiss hamlet, just visit the little village of Rumford Point nestled among the mountains. The grand old Androscoggin flows along carrying with it debris from the flourishing city of Berlin Falls. The Ellis flows down from the North as if to say, "take me with you to the sea." Tumble Down Dick rears its rocky head, and the Great Ledge looks down as if to say, "what changes!"

Our mind takes a retrospective view, we think of the grand men and women who lived here fifty and seventy-five years ago, these grand old elms that raise their heads to the sky, stand as monuments of their thrift and energy. The church stands here which represents Congregationalism in this town. This church was organized in 1803. You will readily perceive that in 1003 will occur the centennial.

One good old deacon lived on Hall Hill, now called South Rumford, one on Red Hill, and one on Ellis river, when my father came to be its minister. The old Union church went up in flames more than thirty years ago. We anxiously await the time when a pastor will be employed for the year.

The residences are here and the landmarks, but where are the faces and forms? Go to yonder churchyard and you will read the names inscribed of those who weary with the burden and strife of life are taking their rest. We wonder who will take their places.

We would speak of the entertainment of the Franklin League at the schoolhouse on Friday evening, Sept. 28. The selections were well rendered, the poses very effective, the drill was well done and reflected much credit upon the teachers who had it in charge. The musical selections were well rendered. The schoolroom has been made attractive by pictures and there are more than seventy volumes in the library. The schools are larger than for some time previous. Quite a number of pupils come from the adjoining districts. They have a teacher of music and drawing who will make occasional visits.

We remember when we attended school in this district we had none of these advantages. If teacher was fond of music she would permit us to sing once a day, yet our pupils did good solid work. We have in mind several who occupy positions of prominence. One of Rumford Falls most prominent business men taught our school for three successive winters. We have no doubt but he will occupy the Governor's chair in the near future.

The summer visitors have gone and Autumn has already tinged the foliage. We wonder if the electric cars will not soon make their tour from Bethel to Rumford Falls. We have a telephone connection with Hanover, Rumford Corner and the Falls.

The mica mine is doing a thriving business and we have no doubt a plant will be established there, giving employment to a quantity of people.

The paint mine on East Ellis is just ready to be utilized. We have no doubt if a capitalist should take charge, great results would follow. What there is stored in these grand old mountains time will tell. One need not go to California and the West but explore here in our own immediate vicinity.

Not long ago we visited the home of Edmund Bailey of Andover, who has one of the best collections of geological specimens and precious stones in this part of the country. We there saw a stone from Old Whitecap, an aqua marine which Tiffany Bros. of New York had polished and finished, also tourmaline from Old Puzzle.

There are many fine specimens of work from the mica mine, some very clear quartz and pyrite. The mine is producing very fine sheets of mica and a very rich vein it proves. They are carrying off quantities daily to the railroad station. Cordially yours,

Rev. W. E. Purington had a chance for an excellent shot at a big buck deer. He shot, but the deer took no notice of him but slowly walked away.

Sidney Foster, a teamster, while riding on his team on Rumford Avenue, was thrown off his seat by the front wheel striking a stone. The hind wheel passed over his head crushing his brains out and killing him instantly.

Doctors say that, on account of their absolute purity and the hygienic conditions under which they are prepared, Chase & Sanborn's "Package" Teas are best for the sick. The exquisite mellow flavor of these teas stimulates the appetite for wholesome food.

Cucumbers for the Market.

A. E. Tarbox of Fryeburg has just completed a hot-house for raising cucumbers for the market. He expects to get two crops per year. His son who has recently got through school is to have charge of it as Mr. Tarbox has business in Boston that occupies the most of his time.

The building is 125 feet by 30 with glass roofing and sides. It is piped for steam which is furnished from a 20 horse power boiler. Only one building is up now. Should they meet with the success expected two other similar hothouses will be built.

Two crops of cucumbers will be the result each year. Those now started ought to commence to bear by the first of November and will bear more or less for three months.

The present price for cucumbers in Boston is $8.00 per bushel. Last season the highest price reached was $18.00 per bushel. Some seasons they have been known to sell as high as $26.00 per bushel.

Mr. Tarbox has everything substantially built and conveniently arranged and is expecting his son will do a good business with the experience that is sure to come from trying. Fryeburg soil is especially adapted to the hothouse raising of cucumbers.

C. F. Goodnow is the pioneer in the raising of cucumbers in this vicinity. He heats with hot water instead of steam.

The Little Old Woman Tramp.

EDITOR OF ADVERTISER:—Will you kindly allow me to assure your readers that the poor little old woman tramp at Norway mentioned in the last ADVERTISER is not at all dangerous nor vicious when treated with common civility.

She was not too crazy to recognize an impertinence, and did not seem to understand why she should be subjected thereto. Treated with the same courtesy that was required of her she was all right.

She stayed one night at my father's, T. J. Whitman's, (mother not being afraid of so pitiful an object) and she seemed overflowing with gratitude and appreciation. The previous night she passed without shelter, there being no one who dared to take her in though it was bitter cold. She crept into a shed part of the night, but had to leave before daylight lest she be arrested for trespassing.

Arrested for seeking shelter among the horned cattle!

Arrested for being insane and homeless, for that is the sum total of it.

Let none of the readers of the ADVERTISER refuse her shelter from motives of fear for she seemed perfectly harmless, was cleanliness itself, and extremely grateful for the smallest kindness.

Would have been thankful for a chance to pass the night in a chair so that she was sheltered. And yet her mind is seemingly unbalanced to the extent of making a wandering vagabond of her.

"Alas! for the rarity
Of Christian charity
Under the sun!
Oh! it was pitiful!
Near a whole city full,
Home she had none."

Children's Corner.

Not Exactly What She Wanted.

A teacher was instructing a class of infants in the Sunday school and was letting the children finish her sentences to make sure they understood.

"The idol had eyes" she said, "but it couldn't—"

"See," cried the children.

"It had ears, but it couldn't—"

"Hear," said the class.

"It had lips but it coulnd't—"

"Speak," said the children.

"It had a nose, but it couldn't—"

"Wipe it!" shouted the little ones, and the teacher had to pause in her lessons in order to recover her composure.

Willing to Do Her Duty.

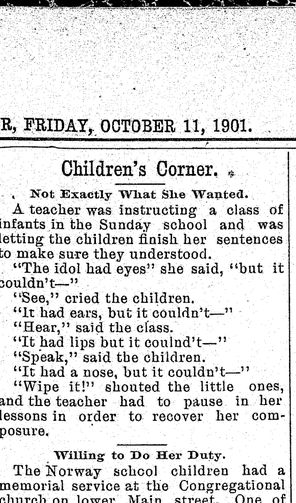

The Norway school children had a memorial service at the Congregational church on lower Main street. One of the little tots from the upper primary told a lady of it in her childlike way.

"It was pretty hard for some to go way down there," she said, then added with a long breath and a sigh, "but then we were willng to do anything for President McKinley."

Norway, Oct. 5, 1901.

DEAR EDITOR:—I will write you a line to-day. It was a mistake, I have picked seventy quarts of blueberries instead of ten as you printed. My school has begun. My teacher's name is June E. Leavitt of Norway. I like her very much. I have shelled one hundred and fifty quarts of corn shop beans. If this escapes the waste basket I will write again. Good by, SUSIE A. KIMBALL.

A beautiful life went out bringing great sorrow to the household of Secretary John D. Long at Hingham, Mass., in the death, Friday night, Oct. 4, of Helen Long, his second daughter. The end came about nine o'clock and all the members of the family were at the bedside. Miss Long died of pulmonary trouble. She was born in Hingham, June 16, 1873.

Mothers' Meetings.

The W. C. T. U. Mothers' Club will hold the first meeting of this year's course at the Methodist church on Wednesday, Oct. 23, at 2.30 p. m.

All women are cordially invited to be present, and the mothers are specially urged to come in. A regular course of study will be taken up, beginning with the care of the wee baby, and following up the growth of the child physically, morally and mentally to the age of sixteen years.

Parents' mistakes, parents' problems, home amusements, mother-plays and lullabies, diet, sleep, dress and exercise are some of the topics to be considered. A set of parents' books specially bearing on these subjects and prepared by noted people who have made a study of child life in all its phases, will furnish material for the meetings, and after the readings from these books there will be opportunity given for questions and discussion.

As this is to be a continuous course of study, it will be to the advantage of all mothers to attend every meeting.

Mothers, bring your children if you have no one with whom to leave them at home. Come, anyway. Plan your work so that you can get away, one afternoon every other week.

If you have to work a little harder, let something go, you will lose nothing but rather you will be refreshed by the change and will be enabled to do better by your family the rest of the two weeks.

A band of mothers studying together how best they may train their children to keep well and avoid the snares and temptations that beset us on every hand cannot fail to be blessed in their endeavors.

A few meetings for teachers and parents have been arranged for during the year, and at these meetings topics bearing specially on school life will be taken up.
